Throughout the semester I was fortunate enough to work with a Neighborhood Planning Unit with chairmen, Troy Nunnally, as my mentor. I was tasked with crafting emails, infographics and going onsite in the neighborhood to improve the scenery and intake community voices. I learned that I'm actually a very detail-oriented person, which I learned through the creating many things for people to understand at a higher level and a low-view level. In April, I started using Landgrid, an app that is used to report conditions of houses in the NPU-Y region.
